USE THIS WHEN: you're diving into something new and don't want to feel stupid asking about it.

#001

Explain It Simply

copy & paste ↓

Explain [topic] to me like I am a complete beginner. Use simple words, one relatable analogy, and one real-world example I can picture right away.

USE THIS WHEN: everything feels urgent and you don't trust yourself to pick what matters.

#002

Prioritize My Day

copy & paste ↓

I have [X hours] today and need to do: [list tasks]. Prioritize by urgency and importance and give me a realistic time-block schedule I can actually follow.

USE THIS WHEN: you've been going back and forth in your head for days.

#003

Help Me Decide

copy & paste ↓

I am choosing between [Option A] and [Option B]. My priorities are [what matters to you]. Walk me through the pros and cons clearly so I can decide with confidence.

USE THIS WHEN: an email's been sitting in your inbox making you anxious.

#004

Quick Email Reply

copy & paste ↓

Draft a professional and friendly reply to this email: [paste email]. My response should [agree/decline/ask a question]. Keep it under 5 sentences.

USE THIS WHEN: you don't have time to read the whole thing but need the gist.

#005

Summarize This

copy & paste ↓

Read the following and give me a clear bullet-point summary of the 5 most important things I need to know: [paste your text here].

USE THIS WHEN: you have a meeting or conversation coming up and need to sound informed, fast.

#006 Learn Something Fast

copy & paste ↓

I want to understand [topic] in 15 minutes. Give me the core concepts, one memorable analogy, and 3 questions I should be able to answer when done.

USE THIS WHEN: your to-do list feels impossible and you don't know where to start.

#007 Turn Overwhelm Into a Plan

copy & paste ↓

I feel overwhelmed by everything on my plate today: [list everything, even small things]. Sort it into must-do, should-do, and can-wait, then tell me exactly what to tackle first and why.

USE THIS WHEN: you're stuck between two choices and want an outside opinion, not just pros and cons you already know.

#008 Compare Two Options Honestly

copy & paste ↓

I'm deciding between [Option A] and [Option B] for [situation]. My budget/timeline/priority is [detail]. Give me your honest recommendation, not just a balanced list – tell me what you'd actually choose and why.

USE THIS WHEN: last week's plan fell apart by Wednesday and you want this one to actually hold.

#009 Build a Realistic Weekly Plan

copy & paste ↓

Help me plan a realistic week around these fixed commitments: [list them]. I also want progress on [goal]. Build a schedule that accounts for real energy levels, not an idealized version of my week.

Writing @ Personal Messages

BEST FOR: Saying the right thing when the words won't come.

010	Heartfelt Apology	you know you messed up and don't want it to sound hollow.
011	Thank You Note	"thanks so much!" feels too small for what they actually did.
012	Birthday Message	you want to say more than "happy birthday!!" but blanked.
013	Instagram Bio	your bio hasn't been touched since you made the account.
014	Complaint Letter	you're angry but know yelling won't get you the outcome you want.
015	Cover Letter Opener	you're applying somewhere you actually want and don't want to sound generic.
016	Difficult Conversation Starter	you need to bring up something uncomfortable with someone you care about.
017	Condolence Message	you don't know what to say and don't want it to sound like a form letter.
018	Reference or Recommendation Request	you need to ask someone for a favor without it feeling awkward.

USE THIS WHEN: you know you messed up and don't want it to sound hollow.

#010 Heartfelt Apology

copy & paste ↓

Write a sincere apology to [person/relationship]. The situation: [brief description]. I want them to feel heard without me making excuses or being defensive.

USE THIS WHEN: “thanks so much!” feels too small for what they actually did.

#011 Thank You Note

copy & paste ↓

Write a warm, personal thank-you note to [person] for [what they did]. Make it feel genuine and specific to them – not a generic copy-paste message.

USE THIS WHEN: you want to say more than “happy birthday!!” but blanked.

#012 Birthday Message

copy & paste ↓

Write a creative birthday message for [name]. Their personality: [describe in a few words]. Make it feel written just for them, not like a greeting card.

USE THIS WHEN: your bio hasn't been touched since you made the account.

#013 Instagram Bio

copy & paste ↓

Write 3 versions of an Instagram bio for me. I am a [what you do]. Vibe: [fun/professional/edgy]. Maximum 150 characters each. Make each one distinct.

USE THIS WHEN: you're angry but know yelling won't get you the outcome you want.

#014 Complaint Letter

copy & paste ↓

Write a firm but professional complaint letter to [company] about [issue]. I want to explain what happened and request [resolution] without sounding angry.

USE THIS WHEN: you're applying somewhere you actually want and don't want to sound generic.

#015 Cover Letter Opener

copy & paste ↓

I am applying for [job title] at [company]. My background: [brief summary]. Write an engaging opening paragraph that grabs attention immediately.

USE THIS WHEN: you need to bring up something uncomfortable with someone you care about.

#016 Difficult Conversation Starter

copy & paste ↓

Help me start a hard conversation with [person] about [issue]. I want to be honest without being harsh, and I want them to stay open instead of getting defensive. Give me a calm opening line.

USE THIS WHEN: you don't know what to say and don't want it to sound like a form letter.

#017 Condolence Message

copy & paste ↓

Write a heartfelt condolence message for [person] who lost [relationship]. I knew [the deceased] as [brief detail]. Keep it warm, specific, and free of clichés like “they're in a better place.”

USE THIS WHEN: you need to ask someone for a favor without it feeling awkward.

#018 Reference or Recommendation Request

copy & paste ↓

Write a message asking [person] to be a reference or write a recommendation for [purpose]. Remind them briefly of our history: [context]. Make it easy and low-pressure for them to say yes.

Content Creation

BEST FOR: Turning one idea into hooks, posts, and scripts that land.

019	YouTube Hook	you know your topic but the first line keeps falling flat.
020	Blog Post Outline	you have an idea but staring at a blank doc kills the momentum.
021	Repurpose Content	you made one good piece of content and want it working four times harder.
022	Video Title Ideas	your video's done but the title is the last thing standing between you and posting.
023	Viral Caption	you have the photo but the caption is the hard part.
024	Email Newsletter	it's send day and the blank subject line is staring back at you.
025	Script Hook Bank	you're staring at the camera with no idea how to open the video.
026	Turn a Comment Into Content	someone left a comment that's basically a content idea and you don't want to waste it.
027	Content Pillar Builder	you're posting randomly and want a system instead of guessing every day.

USE THIS WHEN: you know your topic but the first line keeps falling flat.

#019 YouTube Hook

copy & paste ↓

Write a 30-second spoken hook for a YouTube video about [topic]. Address a pain point immediately, create curiosity, and make the viewer feel they NEED to keep watching.

USE THIS WHEN: you have an idea but staring at a blank doc kills the momentum.

#020 Blog Post Outline

copy & paste ↓

Create a detailed blog post outline for [title] targeting [audience]. Include: a strong intro hook, catchy H2 subheadings with bullet points, and a CTA conclusion.

USE THIS WHEN: you made one good piece of content and want it working four times harder.

#021 Repurpose Content

copy & paste ↓

I have this content: [paste it]. Repurpose into: 1) A Twitter/X thread 2) An Instagram caption 3) A 60-second TikTok script 4) An email newsletter intro.

USE THIS WHEN: your video's done but the title is the last thing standing between you and posting.

#022 Video Title Ideas

copy & paste ↓

Give me 10 YouTube video title ideas for a video about [topic]. Mix: curiosity gaps, numbered lists, how-to formats, and emotional hooks. Target: [your audience].

USE THIS WHEN: you have the photo but the caption is the hard part.

#023 Viral Caption

copy & paste ↓

Write 5 Instagram captions for [photo or topic]. Each needs: an attention-grabbing first line, a relatable story, a question to drive comments, and 3 hashtag ideas.

USE THIS WHEN: it's send day and the blank subject line is staring back at you.

#024

Email Newsletter

copy & paste ↓

Write a weekly email for [audience]. Topic: [topic]. Include: a catchy subject line, a personal opening, 3 value-packed tips, and a soft CTA pointing to [action].

USE THIS WHEN: you're staring at the camera with no idea how to open the video.

#025

Script Hook Bank

copy & paste ↓

Give me 8 opening lines for a video about [topic]. Mix formats: a bold claim, a confession, a question, and a "wait for it" tease. I want the first 3 seconds to stop the scroll.

USE THIS WHEN: someone left a comment that's basically a content idea and you don't want to waste it.

#026

Turn a Comment Into Content

copy & paste ↓

A follower commented: [paste comment]. Turn this into a full piece of content – script, caption, or post – that answers their question in a way that helps my wider audience too.

USE THIS WHEN: you're posting randomly and want a system instead of guessing every day.

#027

Content Pillar Builder

copy & paste ↓

Help me define 4 content pillars for my [niche/brand]. For each pillar, give me the purpose, 5 example topics, and how often I should post it relative to the others.

Social Media Strategy

BEST FOR: Growing an audience with a plan instead of guesswork.

028	30-Day Content Calendar	you're tired of deciding what to post the morning you're supposed to post it.
029	Story Sequence	you have an offer to promote but don't want it to feel like an ad.
030	TikTok Hook Bank	you're about to hit record and blank on how to start.
031	Comment Response Bank	comments are piling up and you're answering the same things over and over.
032	Hashtag Strategy	you're using the same 5 hashtags out of habit, not strategy.
033	Competitor Research	someone in your niche is blowing up and you want to know why.
034	Reels/TikTok Batch Plan	you have one free afternoon and want a week of content out of it.
035	Bio Optimization Audit	your profile isn't converting visitors into followers.
036	Engagement Recovery Plan	your engagement has been flat or dropping and you don't know why.

USE THIS WHEN: you're tired of deciding what to post the morning you're supposed to post it.

#028 30-Day Content Calendar

copy & paste ↓

Build a 30-day content calendar for [platform] for a [type of brand]. Include: post themes, content formats, and suggested posting frequency. My niche: [niche].

USE THIS WHEN: you have an offer to promote but don't want it to feel like an ad.

#029 Story Sequence

copy & paste ↓

Write a 5-slide Instagram Story sequence to promote [product or offer]. Each slide should build curiosity leading to a strong CTA on the final slide. Include suggested text per slide.

USE THIS WHEN: you're about to hit record and blank on how to start.

#030 TikTok Hook Bank

copy & paste ↓

Generate 15 TikTok opening lines for [topic]. Stop the scroll in 2 seconds. Use: shocking stat, bold claim, relatable confession, POV, and "tell me why" formats.

USE THIS WHEN: comments are piling up and you're answering the same things over and over.

#031 Comment Response Bank

copy & paste ↓

Write 10 response templates for replying to comments on my [product or content] posts. Mix tones: grateful, funny, engaging, professional. Each should feel natural, not robotic.

USE THIS WHEN: you're using the same 5 hashtags out of habit, not strategy.

#032 Hashtag Strategy

copy & paste ↓

I post about [niche] on Instagram. Build a hashtag strategy: 5 large tags over 1M, 10 medium tags 100K-500K, and 10 niche tags under 50K that match [specific topic].

USE THIS WHEN: someone in your niche is blowing up and you want to know why.

#033 Competitor Research

copy & paste ↓

Act as a social media strategist. What makes successful [niche] creators on [platform] stand out? What content formats perform best and what gaps could I fill?

USE THIS WHEN: you have one free afternoon and want a week of content out of it.

#034 Reels/TikTok Batch Plan

copy & paste ↓

I have [X hours] to film content for [platform]. Give me 5 video concepts I can batch-film in one sitting for [niche], including the hook, main point, and CTA for each.

USE THIS WHEN: your profile isn't converting visitors into followers.

#035 Bio Optimization Audit

copy & paste ↓

Here's my current bio: [paste bio]. My audience is [describe]. My goal is [follow/click/buy]. Rewrite it to be clearer and more compelling, and tell me what was weak about the original.

USE THIS WHEN: your engagement has been flat or dropping and you don't know why.

#036 Engagement Recovery Plan

copy & paste ↓

My engagement on [platform] has dropped over [timeframe]. My recent content has been about [topics]. Diagnose 3 likely reasons and give me a 2-week plan to recover momentum.

Business & Email

BEST FOR: Sounding professional in every client and business email.

037	Cold Outreach Email	you want to reach someone new but don't want to sound like spam.
038	Follow-Up Email	it's been a few days of silence and you don't want to seem pushy.
039	Proposal Template	a client wants "something in writing" and you don't have a template ready.
040	Negotiate Your Rate	you know you're worth more but the ask makes your stomach drop.
041	Client Onboarding Email	someone just said yes and you want their first impression to be a great one.
042	Meeting Agenda	you're calling a meeting and don't want it to turn into a ramble.
043	Boundary-Setting Email	a client or collaborator keeps overstepping and you need to reset expectations without burning the relationship.
044	Vendor or Supplier Inquiry	you're sourcing something new and want to sound established, not like a first-timer.
045	Apology for a Business Mistake	something went wrong on your end and you need to own it without over-apologizing.

USE THIS WHEN: you want to reach someone new but don't want to sound like spam.

#037 Cold Outreach Email

copy & paste ↓

Write a cold outreach email to [type of business or person]. My role: [your role]. Goal: [get a meeting or collab]. Keep it under 150 words. Sound human, not like a sales robot.

USE THIS WHEN: it's been a few days of silence and you don't want to seem pushy.

#038 Follow-Up Email

copy & paste ↓

Write a follow-up email for a [meeting/proposal/interview] from [X days] ago. Reference [something specific discussed]. Be warm and professional with a clear next step.

USE THIS WHEN: a client wants "something in writing" and you don't have a template ready.

#039 Proposal Template

copy & paste ↓

Create a professional project proposal for [type of project]. Include: overview, scope of work, deliverables, timeline, investment section, and a next steps section I can customize.

USE THIS WHEN: you know you're worth more but the ask makes your stomach drop.

#040 Negotiate Your Rate

copy & paste ↓

Write a message to [client] negotiating my rate from [$X] to [$Y]. My value points: [list them]. Tone: confident and collaborative – not an ultimatum, not desperate.

USE THIS WHEN: someone just said yes and you want their first impression to be a great one.

#041 Client Onboarding Email

copy & paste ↓

Write a professional welcome email for a new client who just signed with my [service type] business. Include: warm welcome, what to expect, next steps, contact info, and timeline.

USE THIS WHEN: you're calling a meeting and don't want it to turn into a ramble.

#042

Meeting Agenda

copy & paste ↓

Create a focused meeting agenda for a [type of meeting] with [who]. Duration: [X minutes]. Outcome: [goal]. Include time per topic and a clear action items section at the end.

USE THIS WHEN: a client or collaborator keeps overstepping and you need to reset expectations without burning the relationship.

#043

Boundary-Setting Email

copy & paste ↓

Write an email to [person] setting a clear boundary about [issue]. Firm but professional – I want to preserve the relationship, not end it.

USE THIS WHEN: you're sourcing something new and want to sound established, not like a first-timer.

#044

Vendor or Supplier Inquiry

copy & paste ↓

Write an inquiry email to [supplier/vendor] about [product/service]. Ask about [pricing, MOQ, lead time]. Sound like an established small business, confident and specific.

USE THIS WHEN: something went wrong on your end and you need to own it without over-apologizing.

#045

Apology for a Business Mistake

copy & paste ↓

Write an email to [client/customer] apologizing for [what went wrong]. I want to take responsibility, explain the fix, and offer [remedy] – without groveling or making excuses.

Sales & Copywriting

BEST FOR: Copy that turns browsers into buyers — without the sleaze.

046	Product Description	your listing has specs but no soul.
047	Sales Page Headlines	you've written the whole page but the headline still isn't landing.
048	Launch Announcement	launch day is coming and you haven't written the "it's here!" post yet.
049	FAQ That Sells	you keep getting the same hesitant questions in your DMs.
050	Testimonial Request	you know past customers loved it but never think to ask them to say so.
051	Abandoned Cart Emails	people are adding to cart and disappearing before checkout.
052	Objection-Crushing Script	you keep hearing the same hesitation and want a go-to response.
053	Bundle or Upsell Pitch	you want to increase average order value without feeling salesy.
054	Scarcity Without Sleaze	you're running a limited offer and want urgency that still feels honest.

USE THIS WHEN: your listing has specs but no soul.

#046

Product Description

copy & paste ↓

Write a compelling product description for [product name]. Features: [list]. Target buyer: [describe]. Lead with the transformation and benefit, not just the specs. Close with a CTA.

USE THIS WHEN: you've written the whole page but the headline still isn't landing.

#047

Sales Page Headlines

copy & paste ↓

Write 10 headline options for a sales page selling [product or service]. Mix: transformation, curiosity, specificity, social proof, and pain-point opener. Target audience: [describe].

USE THIS WHEN: launch day is coming and you haven't written the "it's here!" post yet.

#048

Launch Announcement

copy & paste ↓

Write a product launch announcement for [product] going live on [date]. Include: what it is, who it is for, what makes it different, what is included, price, and a strong CTA.

USE THIS WHEN: you keep getting the same hesitant questions in your DMs.

#049

FAQ That Sells

copy & paste ↓

Create an FAQ section for [product or service] that proactively answers the top 8 buyer objections. Make each answer persuasive and confidence-building, not just informative.

USE THIS WHEN: you know past customers loved it but never think to ask them to say so.

#050

Testimonial Request

copy & paste ↓

Write a short casual message to send to past customers asking for a testimonial. Suggest 3 specific questions to make it easy for them. Do not make it feel like homework.

USE THIS WHEN: people are adding to cart and disappearing before checkout.

#051 Abandoned Cart Emails

copy & paste ↓

Write a 3-email abandoned cart sequence for [product]. Email 1: gentle reminder. Email 2: address objections with social proof. Email 3: last chance with urgency.

USE THIS WHEN: you keep hearing the same hesitation and want a go-to response.

#052 Objection-Crushing Script

copy & paste ↓

My potential customers keep hesitating because [objection]. Write 3 short responses I can use in DMs or comments that address this without sounding pushy.

USE THIS WHEN: you want to increase average order value without feeling salesy.

#053 Bundle or Upsell Pitch

copy & paste ↓

I sell [product]. Help me design a bundle or upsell offer that pairs it with [related item/service]. Write the pitch copy, framed as a no-brainer add-on, not a hard sell.

USE THIS WHEN: you're running a limited offer and want urgency that still feels honest.

#054 Scarcity Without Sleaze

copy & paste ↓

Write urgency copy for [offer] that ends on [date/quantity]. I want real scarcity, not fake countdown-timer energy — make it feel like an honest heads-up, not manipulation.

Strategy & Planning

BEST FOR: Turning big goals into 90-day plans you'll actually follow.

055	90-Day Business Sprint	you have a big goal but no idea how to break it into a plan.
056	Revenue Stream Ideas	you're relying on one income stream and it makes you nervous.
057	Build a System (SOP)	you're the only one who knows how to do a task, and that's a problem.
058	Full Launch Strategy	you have a launch date but no actual plan behind it yet.
059	Pricing Strategy	you picked your price by guessing and it's bugging you.
060	SWOT Analysis	you want an honest look at your business, not just a gut feeling.
061	Decision Framework	a big decision keeps looping in your head and you need a way to actually decide.
062	Burnout-Proof Workload Audit	you're stretched across too many projects and need to see what to cut.
063	Quarterly Goal Reverse-Engineer	you have a big goal and no idea what the next 90 days should actually look like.

USE THIS WHEN: you have a big goal but no idea how to break it into a plan.

#055 90-Day Business Sprint

copy & paste ↓

Help me build a 90-day action plan to [specific goal]. Starting from: [current situation]. Break into 3 monthly sprints with weekly actions, success metrics, and how to handle obstacles.

USE THIS WHEN: you're relying on one income stream and it makes you nervous.

#056 Revenue Stream Ideas

copy & paste ↓

I run a [business type] for [audience]. Brainstorm 10 revenue streams I could add — from passive to active, easy to complex. Rate each by profit potential and difficulty to launch.

USE THIS WHEN: you're the only one who knows how to do a task, and that's a problem.

#057 Build a System (SOP)

copy & paste ↓

Build a step-by-step standard operating procedure for [task]. Make it clear enough that I could delegate it to someone else immediately without explaining anything verbally.

USE THIS WHEN: you have a launch date but no actual plan behind it yet.

#058 Full Launch Strategy

copy & paste ↓

Create a pre-launch, launch, and post-launch strategy for [product] launching in [timeframe]. Include: audience warming, content plan, email sequence outline, and launch week schedule.

USE THIS WHEN: you picked your price by guessing and it's bugging you.

#059 Pricing Strategy

copy & paste ↓

Help me price [product or service]. My costs: [X]. Competitors charge: [range]. My audience: [describe]. Give me 3 pricing tiers — budget, mid, premium — with psychological framing for each.

USE THIS WHEN: you want an honest look at your business, not just a gut feeling.

#060

SWOT Analysis

copy & paste ↓

Run a detailed SWOT analysis on [my business or idea]. Be specific, not generic. After the analysis, give me 3 strategic moves that turn my weaknesses and threats into opportunities.

USE THIS WHEN: a big decision keeps looping in your head and you need a way to actually decide.

#061

Decision Framework

copy & paste ↓

I'm trying to decide whether to [decision]. Here's what's true: [relevant facts/constraints]. Build me a simple decision framework — the 3 questions I should answer to make this call with confidence.

USE THIS WHEN: you're stretched across too many projects and need to see what to cut.

#062

Burnout-Proof Workload Audit

copy & paste ↓

Here's everything currently on my plate: [list all projects/brands/tasks]. Help me identify what's actually moving the needle versus what's just busywork, and recommend what to pause, delegate, or drop.

USE THIS WHEN: you have a big goal and no idea what the next 90 days should actually look like.

#063

Quarterly Goal Reverse-Engineer

copy & paste ↓

My goal for this quarter is [goal]. Reverse-engineer it into monthly targets, then weekly actions for month one. Be specific — no vague “post consistently” advice.

Research & Analysis

BEST FOR: Knowing your market, your buyer, and your numbers cold.

064	Market Research Brief	you're entering a space and don't want to walk in blind.
065	Competitor Deep Dive	you keep losing customers to someone else and don't know why.
066	Buyer Persona	your marketing feels like it's talking to "everyone," which means it's talking to no one.
067	Data Interpretation	you have numbers in front of you but no idea what they're telling you.
068	Trend Spotting	you want to move before everyone else catches on, not after.
069	Research Summary	you found a study or article that matters but don't have time to read it in full.
070	Read the Room (Audience Sentiment)	you want to know what your audience actually thinks before you launch something.
071	Pricing Benchmark Check	you're not sure if your price is too high, too low, or just right.
072	Risk Check Before You Launch	you're about to commit time or money and want a gut-check first.

USE THIS WHEN: you're entering a space and don't want to walk in blind.

#064 Market Research Brief

copy & paste ↓

Act as a market research analyst. Give me a detailed overview of the [niche or industry] market. Include: size, key trends, top players, consumer behavior shifts, and opportunities for a new entrant.

USE THIS WHEN: you keep losing customers to someone else and don't know why.

#065 Competitor Deep Dive

copy & paste ↓

Analyze [competitor name or type] in the [industry] space. What do they do well? Where are their gaps? What are customers complaining about? How can I position to attract frustrated buyers?

USE THIS WHEN: your marketing feels like it's talking to "everyone," which means it's talking to no one.

#066 Buyer Persona

copy & paste ↓

Build a detailed buyer persona for my ideal customer interested in [product or topic]. Include: demographics, psychographics, daily pain points, goals, buying objections, and exact words they use.

USE THIS WHEN: you have numbers in front of you but no idea what they're telling you.

#067 Data Interpretation

copy & paste ↓

Here is data from my [analytics or survey]: [paste it]. Interpret what this means, identify the 3 most important takeaways, and suggest specific actions I should take based on these numbers.

USE THIS WHEN: you want to move before everyone else catches on, not after.

#068 Trend Spotting

copy & paste ↓

Analyze current trends in [industry or niche]. What is growing? What is declining? What is emerging that most people have not noticed? Give me actionable insights to position my brand.

USE THIS WHEN: you found a study or article that matters but don't have time to read it in full.

#069

Research Summary

copy & paste ↓

Summarize the following in plain language: [paste article or research]. Tell me: what was studied, what they found, what it means practically, and what I should do with this information.

USE THIS WHEN: you want to know what your audience actually thinks before you launch something.

#070

Read the Room (Audience Sentiment)

copy & paste ↓

Here are comments, reviews, or messages from my audience: [paste examples]. Identify the recurring themes, the emotional tone, and 3 things they're telling me they want that I'm not currently giving them.

USE THIS WHEN: you're not sure if your price is too high, too low, or just right.

#071

Pricing Benchmark Check

copy & paste ↓

I sell [product/service] at [price]. Research how similar products or services are typically priced in [niche/market]. Tell me if I'm underpriced, overpriced, or in the right range, and why.

USE THIS WHEN: you're about to commit time or money and want a gut-check first.

#072

Risk Check Before You Launch

copy & paste ↓

I'm about to launch or invest in [idea]. Play devil's advocate: what are the 3 biggest risks or reasons this could fail, and what would you do differently before moving forward?

Digital Marketing

BEST FOR: Ads, SEO, and email funnels that bring buyers back.

073	Ad Copy Variations	you're about to run ads and only have one angle written.
074	SEO Content Strategy	you want organic traffic but don't know where to start writing.
075	Email Welcome Sequence	new subscribers join and then hear nothing from you for weeks.
076	Lead Magnet Ideas	you want to grow your list but don't have anything free to offer yet.
077	Influencer Pitch DM	you found the perfect creator to partner with and don't want to send a template.
078	Retargeting Strategy	people are visiting your site and leaving without buying.
079	Organic Growth Audit	you're posting consistently but traffic still isn't growing.
080	Email List Re-Engagement	your list has gone quiet and open rates are dropping.
081	Cross-Platform Repost Strategy	you're only posting once and leaving reach on the table everywhere else.

USE THIS WHEN: you're about to run ads and only have one angle written.

#073 Ad Copy Variations

copy & paste ↓

Write 5 Facebook and Instagram ad variations for [product or offer]. Each needs a different angle: problem-led, aspiration-led, social proof, curiosity, and urgency. Include headline, body, and CTA for each.

USE THIS WHEN: you want organic traffic but don't know where to start writing.

#074 SEO Content Strategy

copy & paste ↓

Build an SEO content strategy for [type of site] targeting [niche]. Give me: 10 high-intent keyword clusters, 5 pillar page ideas, 20 supporting blog post topics, and internal linking suggestions.

USE THIS WHEN: new subscribers join and then hear nothing from you for weeks.

#075 Email Welcome Sequence

copy & paste ↓

Design a 7-email welcome sequence for new subscribers to my [list type] newsletter. Goal: build trust, deliver value, introduce my offer, and convert. Map out subject line and goal for each email.

USE THIS WHEN: you want to grow your list but don't have anything free to offer yet.

#076 Lead Magnet Ideas

copy & paste ↓

Generate 10 lead magnet ideas for [business type] targeting [audience]. For each: a title, format, core value proposition. Rank by perceived value and ease of creation.

USE THIS WHEN: you found the perfect creator to partner with and don't want to send a template.

#077 Influencer Pitch DM

copy & paste ↓

Write a short DM to a [micro or mid-tier] influencer in [niche] for a [collab or gifting or paid] partnership. My brand: [describe]. Make it genuine and exciting — not copy-paste template spam.

USE THIS WHEN: people are visiting your site and leaving without buying.

#078 Retargeting Strategy

copy & paste ↓

Build a retargeting ad strategy for people who visited [my site or sales page] but did not convert. What audiences should I build? What messaging for each stage? What offers should I lead with?

USE THIS WHEN: you're posting consistently but traffic still isn't growing.

#079 Organic Growth Audit

copy & paste ↓

My [platform/site] traffic has been flat despite posting [frequency] about [niche]. Audit what might be holding growth back and give me 3 specific changes to try this month.

USE THIS WHEN: your list has gone quiet and open rates are dropping.

#080 Email List Re-Engagement

copy & paste ↓

My email list hasn't heard from me in [timeframe]. Write a re-engagement email that acknowledges the gap honestly, delivers value immediately, and invites them back without sounding apologetic or desperate.

USE THIS WHEN: you're only posting once and leaving reach on the table everywhere else.

#081 Cross-Platform Repost Strategy

copy & paste ↓

I created this content for [platform]: [paste or describe it]. Show me how to adapt it for [2-3 other platforms] without it feeling like a lazy repost — different hook, same core idea.

Skincare & Beauty Business

BEST FOR: Beauty founders and creators selling skincare with substance.

082	Product Launch Email	a new product is ready and the launch email is the last thing standing in the way.
083	Ingredient Explainer	customers ask “what does this ingredient even do?” and you want a shareable answer.
084	Skincare Routine Builder	someone asks “where do I even start” with their skin.
085	UGC Pitch to Beauty Brand	you found a brand you’d genuinely use and want the pitch to show it.
086	Beauty Content Hook Bank	you film skincare content often and the hooks are starting to feel repetitive.
087	Review Response Templates	a tough review just came in and you want to respond well, not react.
088	Debunk a Skincare Myth	you want content that positions you as the expert, not just another product pusher.
089	Before/After Content Caption	you have real results to show and want the caption to match the visual’s impact.
090	Skin-Type Personalization Quiz Copy	you want to segment your audience by skin concern instead of talking to everyone at once.

USE THIS WHEN: a new product is ready and the launch email is the last thing standing in the way.

#082 Product Launch Email

copy & paste ↓

Write a product launch email for a new [skincare product] called [name]. Benefits: [list]. Target: [skin type or concern]. Open with intrigue, highlight the hero ingredient, promise a transformation, close with CTA.

USE THIS WHEN: customers ask “what does this ingredient even do?” and you want a shareable answer.

#083 Ingredient Explainer

copy & paste ↓

Explain what [ingredient name] does for skin in simple, exciting language a non-expert would love to share. Cover: what it does, who needs it, expected results timeline, and how to layer it correctly.

USE THIS WHEN: someone asks “where do I even start” with their skin.

#084 Skincare Routine Builder

copy & paste ↓

Create a complete AM and PM skincare routine for [skin type or concern]. Include: product categories, order of application, why each step matters, and what ingredients to avoid layering together.

USE THIS WHEN: you found a brand you’d genuinely use and want the pitch to show it.

#085 UGC Pitch to Beauty Brand

copy & paste ↓

Write an outreach email to [brand name] as a UGC creator specializing in skincare and beauty. I create [content type]. Make it feel personal – like I genuinely love the brand. Not a generic pitch template.

USE THIS WHEN: you film skincare content often and the hooks are starting to feel repetitive.

#086 Beauty Content Hook Bank

copy & paste ↓

Write 15 content hooks for skincare and beauty creators on [platform]. Mix: shocking skin facts, transformation teasers, myth-busting, watch-me POVs, and relatable confessions. Make each one stop the scroll.

USE THIS WHEN: a tough review just came in and you want to respond well, not react.

#087

Review Response Templates

copy & paste ↓

Write professional, warm responses to these customer reviews: [paste a 1-star and 5-star review]. The 1-star should be empathetic and solution-focused. The 5-star should feel personal and grateful.

USE THIS WHEN: you want content that positions you as the expert, not just another product pusher.

#088

Debunk a Skincare Myth

copy & paste ↓

Write a myth-busting script about [common skincare myth]. Explain what people believe, why it's wrong, and what's actually true — in a fun, confident tone, not preachy or clinical.

USE THIS WHEN: you have real results to show and want the caption to match the visual's impact.

#089

Before/After Content Caption

copy & paste ↓

Write a caption for a before/after post about [product/result]. Lead with the transformation, mention the timeline honestly, and avoid overpromising — end with a soft CTA to learn more.

USE THIS WHEN: you want to segment your audience by skin concern instead of talking to everyone at once.

#090

Skin-Type Personalization Quiz Copy

copy & paste ↓

Write 5 quiz questions to help someone identify their skin type or concern for [product line]. Each question should feel fun, not clinical, and lead naturally toward a product recommendation.

UGC & Brand Outreach

BEST FOR: Pitching brands, negotiating rates, and protecting your work.

091	Cold Pitch Email	you want to work with a brand that doesn't know you exist yet.
092	Rate Negotiation Reply	the offer is lower than you're worth and you don't want to just accept it.
093	Follow-Up After Silence	you pitched a brand and heard nothing back.
094	Collab Proposal Email	you want to pitch a specific idea, not just "let's work together."
095	Ask for a Contract	a brand wants to start without paperwork and that makes you nervous.
096	Request a Referral	a collab went great and you want more of that, from someone else.
097	Media Kit One-Pager Copy	a brand asks for your media kit and you don't have one ready.
098	Turning Down a Bad-Fit Brand	an offer isn't right for you and you want to decline gracefully, not burn the door.
099	Usage Rights Clarification	a brand's contract is vague about how long or where they can use your content.

USE THIS WHEN: you want to work with a brand that doesn't know you exist yet.

#091 Cold Pitch Email

copy & paste ↓

Write a cold pitch email to [brand name] as a UGC creator. I specialize in [niche or content type]. Make it personal, show I know the brand, explain the value I bring, and close with an easy next step.

USE THIS WHEN: the offer is lower than you're worth and you don't want to just accept it.

#092 Rate Negotiation Reply

copy & paste ↓

I have been offered [$X] for [deliverables] by [brand type]. Help me respond to negotiate a higher rate or better terms. Keep the relationship warm. Confident but collaborative — not demanding.

USE THIS WHEN: you pitched a brand and heard nothing back.

#093 Follow-Up After Silence

copy & paste ↓

Write a follow-up message to a brand I pitched [X days] ago with no response. Reference something specific about their brand. Keep it short and confident — not desperate or apologetic.

USE THIS WHEN: you want to pitch a specific idea, not just "let's work together."

#094 Collab Proposal Email

copy & paste ↓

Write a collaboration proposal email to [brand] for a [gifted or paid or affiliate] partnership. I am a [niche] creator. Explain what I would create, who my audience is, and what specific value I bring.

USE THIS WHEN: a brand wants to start without paperwork and that makes you nervous.

#095 Ask for a Contract

copy & paste ↓

Write a professional message asking a brand for a written agreement before I start work. Protect myself without seeming difficult. Friendly and businesslike — not aggressive or paranoid.

USE THIS WHEN: a collab went great and you want more of that, from someone else.

#096

Request a Referral

copy & paste ↓

Write a message to a brand I successfully worked with asking if they would refer me to other brands or provide a testimonial for my media kit. Warm, confident, and brief — make it easy to say yes.

USE THIS WHEN: a brand asks for your media kit and you don't have one ready.

#097

Media Kit One-Pager Copy

copy & paste ↓

Write the copy for a one-page media kit. My niche is [niche], platforms are [list], audience is [describe], and past results include [stats/brands if any]. Make it feel established, not amateur.

USE THIS WHEN: an offer isn't right for you and you want to decline gracefully, not burn the door.

#098

Turning Down a Bad-Fit Brand

copy & paste ↓

Write a polite decline to [brand] for [offer]. I want to leave the door open for future collabs that are a better fit, without over-explaining why this one isn't right.

USE THIS WHEN: a brand's contract is vague about how long or where they can use your content.

#099

Usage Rights Clarification

copy & paste ↓

Write a message asking [brand] to clarify usage rights and duration for the content I'm creating. I want to protect myself professionally without sounding distrustful or difficult.

Meta-Prompts

BEST FOR: Making every other prompt in this vault work even harder.

100	Improve My Prompt	you wrote a prompt but the answer came back "meh."
101	Build a Template	you keep rewriting the same type of prompt from scratch every time.
102	Diagnose Bad Output	Claude gave you something unusable and you want to know why before trying again.
103	Expand a Vague Idea	you know what you want help with but can't put it into words yet.
104	Build a Prompt Chain	one prompt won't get you there and you need a multi-step plan.
105	Test Multiple Angles	you want to see a topic from every side before committing to one.
106	Turn a Bad Answer Into a Good One	Claude's response missed the mark and you want to fix it instead of starting over.
107	Prompt Stack for a Recurring Task	you do the same type of task weekly and want a reusable system, not a one-off prompt.
108	Reverse-Engineer a Prompt From Great Output	you saw an amazing AI-generated result somewhere and want to figure out how to get similar results yourself.

USE THIS WHEN: you wrote a prompt but the answer came back “meh.”

#100 Improve My Prompt

copy & paste ↓

Here is a prompt I wrote: [paste your prompt]. Make it more specific, effective, and likely to get a high-quality response. Tell me what you changed and why.

USE THIS WHEN: you keep rewriting the same type of prompt from scratch every time.

#101 Build a Template

copy & paste ↓

Create a reusable prompt template for [type of task]. Include [brackets] wherever someone would customize it. Clear enough for a beginner to use immediately.

USE THIS WHEN: Claude gave you something unusable and you want to know why before trying again.

#102 Diagnose Bad Output

copy & paste ↓

I gave Claude this prompt: [paste it]. The output was disappointing because [describe problem]. Diagnose why the prompt failed and rewrite it to get better results.

USE THIS WHEN: you know what you want help with but can't put it into words yet.

#103 Expand a Vague Idea

copy & paste ↓

I want to ask Claude to help me with [vague goal]. Turn this into a specific, detailed prompt that gives Claude everything it needs to give expert-level advice.

USE THIS WHEN: one prompt won't get you there and you need a multi-step plan.

#104 Build a Prompt Chain

copy & paste ↓

I want to accomplish [complex goal]. Break this into a sequence of 5 separate Claude prompts to run in order, where each builds on the last, for the best final result.

USE THIS WHEN: you want to see a topic from every side before committing to one.

#105 Test Multiple Angles

copy & paste ↓

Write 4 different prompts to explore [topic] from four angles: strategic, creative, analytical, and emotional. I want to compare the different responses each one generates.

USE THIS WHEN: Claude's response missed the mark and you want to fix it instead of starting over.

#106 Turn a Bad Answer Into a Good One

copy & paste ↓

Your last answer didn't quite work because [what was wrong – too generic, wrong tone, missed the point]. Keep what was useful, fix that specific issue, and give me a revised version.

USE THIS WHEN: you do the same type of task weekly and want a reusable system, not a one-off prompt.

#107 Prompt Stack for a Recurring Task

copy & paste ↓

I do [recurring task] every [frequency]. Build me a reusable prompt template I can fill in each time, plus a short checklist of what good output should include.

USE THIS WHEN: you saw an amazing AI-generated result somewhere and want to figure out how to get similar results yourself.

#108 Reverse-Engineer a Prompt From Great Output

copy & paste ↓

Here's an example of AI output I loved: [paste example]. Reverse-engineer what prompt likely produced this, then write me a similar prompt I can adapt for [my topic/use case].

Hidden Features & Power Keywords

11 phrases that change what Claude gives you — most users never discover these.

“Act As [Role]”

The single most powerful prompt modifier. Try: “Act as a Harvard-trained copywriter” or “Act as my brutally honest business coach.” Instantly changes the quality and depth of every answer.

“Respond Only In [Format]”

Force the exact output you need. “Respond only in bullet points.” “Respond only in a table.” “Respond only in numbered steps.” Stops you from reformatting everything manually.

“Use a Tone Of [X]”

Claude adapts its voice instantly. “Use a confident, authoritative tone.” “Use a warm and sisterly tone.” “Use dry humor.” Stack them: “Be informative but also entertaining and punchy.”

“Give Me [X] Variations”

Never settle for the first output. “Give me 5 different angles.” “Write 3 versions: formal, casual, and funny.” This is how power users brainstorm 10x faster than everyone else.

“Think Step By Step”

Adding “Think step by step before answering” dramatically improves reasoning on complex problems. Use for: strategy, analysis, decisions, troubleshooting. Activates deeper logical processing.

Power Keywords, Continued

“Assume I Am A [Level]”

“Assume I am a complete beginner” vs “Assume I have 5 years in digital marketing.” Claude adjusts vocabulary, depth, and examples automatically. No more over-explaining or under-explaining.

“Don’t Hold Back – Be Blunt”

Claude is naturally polite. Adding “Don’t hold back, be brutally honest” gets you unfiltered feedback that actually helps you grow. The most underused phrase in this entire guide.

“What Questions Should I Be Asking?”

“What are the 10 questions I should be asking about [topic] that I haven’t thought of yet?” Instantly reveals blind spots and gaps in your thinking before you invest time or money.

“Critique This Like A [Role]”

Paste your draft and say: “Critique this like a harsh professional editor.” Or “Review this like my skeptical target customer.” Role-play critique gives you perspectives worth paying for.

“Make It [Shorter / Punchier / Funnier]”

Claude remembers your full conversation. After any output: “Now make it 30% shorter.” “Make this punchier.” “Add more humor.” Chain edits until the result is exactly what you need.

“Give Me A Summary At The End”

For long responses: “At the end, give me a 3-bullet summary of the key points.” Keeps long outputs scannable and actionable. Also works at the top: “Summarize the main point first in one sentence.”

Quick Reference Cheat Sheet

Keep this page open every time you use Claude.

ROLE

“Act as a [expert role]”
 “Pretend you are my target customer”
 “You are my brutally honest coach”

TONE

“Use a [bold/warm/witty/formal] tone”
 “Be brutally honest, skip the niceties”
 “Write like [describe a style]”

FORMAT

“Respond only in [bullets/table/steps]”
 “Keep it under [X] words”
 “Use headers to organize everything”

DEPTH

“Think step by step before answering”
 “Assume I know nothing about this”
 “Give me the advanced version”

ITERATE

“Give me 5 variations of this”
 “Now make it shorter or punchier”
 “Expand on point number [X]”

CRITIQUE

“Critique this like a harsh editor”
 “What am I missing or getting wrong?”
 “What are the 3 biggest weaknesses?”

OUTPUT

“Give me a 3-bullet summary at the end”
 “List only the action items”
 “Format this as a script I can read aloud”

POWER

“Do not hold back – be direct”
 “What should I be asking that I am not?”
 “Give me the version a professional would use”

STACK THEM → Combine one line from each column in a single prompt — role + tone + format + depth — and you’ll get professional output on the first try, not the fifth.

Claude Hacks Most People Miss

8 things power users do that others don't.

Upload Files & Images

Drag and drop PDFs, Word docs, spreadsheets, or screenshots directly into Claude. Summarize contracts, analyze data, reformat documents. Most users never try this.

Use Projects for Ongoing Work

Claude Projects give Claude persistent memory about your business and brand voice. Set it up once — every conversation starts already knowing who you are.

Paste Your Writing Style

Share 3 to 5 examples of your best writing at the start of any chat. Say: 'This is my voice — match it in everything you write for me.' Claude will sound like you, not generic AI.

Chain Your Prompts

Claude remembers the whole conversation. After a great response, build on it: 'Now turn that into an email.' 'Now make a caption from point 2.' Compound results in one session.

Give Context Upfront

Before your main question add: 'My audience is [X]. My goal is [Y]. My situation is [Z]. With that in mind...' Most people skip this and get generic results. Context is everything.

Use Claude to Edit, Not Just Write

Paste your rough draft and say: 'Clean this up while keeping my voice.' Or: 'Make this 30% tighter.' Your ideas plus Claude's editing beats AI writing from scratch every time.

Save Your Best Prompts

When a prompt gives you amazing results, save it in a Notes doc or Google Drive. Build your personal prompt library. Add to it every week. This compound effect is where the real power lives.

Ask What You Are Missing

One of the most underused prompts: 'What questions should I be asking about [topic] that I have not thought of yet?' Reveals blind spots in any plan instantly.

You now have the vault. Use it like a weapon.

Every prompt is a shortcut others don't have.
