The Digital Use Guide

Using your workbook on a tablet, phone or computer

GOODNOTES · NOTABILITY · XODO · ACROBAT AND FRIENDS

Setting Up Your Tablet Edition

Use the Digital editions (Letter or A4; pick whichever aspect ratio you like on screen). They share every page with the print editions but add roomier writing lines and a clickable table of contents, and every page carries a Contents link in the footer.

- 1 Move the file
Send the PDF to your tablet: cloud drive, AirDrop, email to yourself, or a USB cable all work.
- 2 Import into your app
In Goodnotes: New > Import; in Notability: the import arrow; in Xodo or Acrobat: simply open. Choose the option that keeps the file as a PDF with links intact.
- 3 Make a backup copy
Duplicate the untouched file inside the app or your cloud drive before writing on it. Future you, restarting in January, will be grateful.
- 4 Write with your stylus
Annotation layers sit on top of the page; the writing lines are spaced for a medium pen nib. Zoom in for the smaller planner-style elements.

Honest note: these PDFs are annotation editions, not form-fillable documents; there are no interactive text fields. Every mainstream annotation app writes on them beautifully, which is exactly how they were designed to be used.

Navigating, Repeating, Troubleshooting

Getting around

- The Contents pages are tap-targets: tap any line to jump to that page.
- The word Contents in every footer returns you to the table of contents.
- The PDF outline (bookmarks sidebar) mirrors the structure in most readers.
- In Goodnotes and Notability, remember the app's read-only toggle when links refuse to fire; links click when the pen tool is off.

Repeating pages

When something misbehaves

Links do nothing

You are probably in a browser preview or an editing mode; open in a real PDF app and switch to reading/scroll mode.

File feels slow

Close other large documents; 180-page PDFs like room to breathe on older tablets.

Handwriting looks jagged

Turn off the app's zoom-snap or write in the zoomed writing box.

License summary: your purchase includes a single-user personal-use license. Print and use everything for yourself as often as you like; please do not share, resell, redistribute, or use the files with clients, students or groups without a separate license. The complete license is inside the main workbook.
